ABOUT PRODUCT

Coconut Shell Charcoal Briquettes for both Shisha/Hookah and for barbeque use. Our briquettes are made using only the highest quality coconut shell charcoal (which we manufacture ourselves), featuring high fixed carbon and low ash content. The higher the fixed carbon, the higher the heat produced, the longer the briquettes burn and less ash is produced during burning.

Our coconut shell briquettes are hard and durable thanks to the high pressure presses used in production and strict monitoring of the drying process. Our briquettes are uniformly and neatly shaped and can be made in a variety of shapes and sizes. Strict quality control at all stages of production ensures consistently high quality. We can also pack the briquettes according to your exact requirement (plastic covering only, full color box within inner plastic lining etc.).

Our coconut shell charcoal briquettes are perfect for shisha/hookah use. Due to the low volatile matter content in the briquettes, no smoke or odors are produced during lighting of the briquette. Our high fixed carbon charcoal produces a lot of heat and a long burn time of up to 2 hours during a smoking session. Minimal ash is produced during burning, allowing for easy clean up and the ash color is a pure white/grey color. Our briquettes are of a high strength and do not easily crack or break even after multiple drops.
